RESPONSE TO COMPLAINT FILED BY JOHN HAGELIN

SEP 6 8 59 AM '00

FEDERAL ELECTION
COMMISSION
OFFICE OF GENERAL
COUNSEL

We submit on behalf of respondents Patrick Buchanan, Buchanan Reform, Inc., and Angela "Bay" Buchanan a response to a complaint filed pursuant to Title 2 U.S.C. § 437g on August 17, 2000 by John Hagelin. The complaint should be dismissed because Mr. Hagelin has failed to meet the threshold requirement of Section 437g to plead a violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended, Chapter 14 of Title 2 of the United States Code (the "Act") or the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act, Chapters 95 or 96 of Title 26 of the United States Code (the "Fund Act").

INTRODUCTION

The allegations in Mr. Hagelin's complaint solely involve matters relating to the internal operations of the Reform Party of the United States of America, which are governed by its

2000 SEP 12 12:40:21

Constitution and other organizational documents, and not by the Act or the Fund Act.<sup>1</sup>

Consequently the issues Mr. Hagelin has raised are not within the jurisdiction of the Commission. Mr. Hagelin seeks to have the Commission adjudicate whether Mr. Buchanan's nomination at the Reform Party Convention was conducted in accordance with the Party's internal rules, but he has come to the wrong forum. Courts have repeatedly held that the convention of a political party is the proper forum to resolve disputes about the interpretation and application of the rules and regulations governing a party's nominating process – not a court; and a fortiori, not the Commission. Mr. Hagelin and his supporters “walked out” of the Reform Party Convention, and in doing so they forfeited their opportunity to raise in the appropriate forum the internal procedural issues they improperly seek to raise here.

Mr. Hagelin attempts to “bootstrap” his objections to the conduct of the Reform Party's nominating process into a violation of the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act by contending that “any representation to the FEC by ... any of the Respondents, that Patrick J. Buchanan is the valid and lawful Reform Party Nominee for the office of the President of the United States, constitutes a false, fictitious, and fraudulent representation to the FEC, in violation of 26 U.S.C. 9012(d)(12).”<sup>2</sup> This contention rests on a false premise. As we demonstrate below, Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster were chosen as the Reform Party nominees at the Reform Party Convention. Assuming for the sake of argument that Mr. Hagelin's allegations of procedural irregularities are accurate – which they are not – this does not change the operative fact of the nomination of Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster pursuant to the Reform Party Convention. The FEC need not go beyond that simple fact to assure itself no "false and fraudulent representation" has occurred. Indeed, to do more would involve an examination of internal political party matters in which, for many good reasons, courts have refused to engage and into which the Commission certainly should not venture.

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Hagelin also alleges a violation of 42 USC § 1974, the enforcement of which is not within the jurisdiction of the Commission. Furthermore, Mr. Hagelin does not allege any facts sufficient to show that any representative of the Reform Party engaged in any action amounting to either the failure to “retain and preserve” or the destruction of records covered by the Statute.

A. Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster Were Nominated By the Reform Party Convention

The Reform Party nominated Mr. Buchanan as its candidate for the office of President of the United States, and Ms. Foster as its candidate for the office of Vice-President of the United States, at its convention in the Long Beach Convention Center, Long Beach, California ("the Convention").<sup>3</sup> The Convention was called into session,<sup>4</sup> pursuant to Article III, Section 10 of the Constitution of the Reform Party,<sup>5</sup> by Mr. Gerald Moan, the Chairman of the Reform Party,<sup>6</sup> and was chaired by Mr. Moan. The Convention site had been a subject of controversy and the Mr. Moan's selection of the Long Beach site was confirmed by the federal district court for the

<sup>3</sup> Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster's selection was certified by Mr. Gerald Moan, the Chairman of the Reform Party, Mr. Tom McLaughlin, its Treasurer, and Mr. Phil Alexander, its Secretary. (See Appendix A). Mr. McLaughlin is also the Treasurer of the National Committee of the Reform Party, the registered political committee of the Reform Party. (See Appendix B).

<sup>6</sup> Mr. Moan has been a member of the Reform Party for many years. Mr. Moan was elected Vice-Chairman at the Dearborn, Michigan Convention in 1999. At that meeting Mr. John Gargan was elected to serve as Chairman and Mr. Jim Manga was elected to serve as Secretary. Their terms commenced on January 1, 2000 and ending on December 31, 2000. Shortly after his term commenced, Mr. Gargan was removed as Chairman at a National Committee Meeting in Nashville Tennessee and replaced by Mr. Pat Choate. The validity of Mr. Gargan's removal, and Mr. Choate's election was affirmed by a federal district court in Reform Party of the United States v. Gargan, 89 F.Supp.2d 751, 761-62 (W.D. Va. 2000). Subsequently, Mr. Choate resigned his position and Mr. Moan, as Vice Chairman, assumed the role of Chairman.

Western District of Virginia in Reform Party of the United States v. Gargan, 89 F.Supp.2d 751 (W.D. Va. 2000).

Mr. Moan was also the Chair and Treasurer of the Convention Committee, which received federal entitlement to funds (pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 9008) to defray the cost of the Reform Party Convention. Mr. Moan's selection as the Chair/Treasurer of the Convention Committee was also confirmed in Reform Party of the United States v. Gargan, supra, at 761.

In his capacity as Chair/Treasurer of the Convention Committee, Mr. Moan asked for and received from the Commission an Advisory Opinion (AO2000-06) authorizing the expenditure of the federal funds made available to the Reform Party to conduct its convention to pay for the primary preference ballot. In its Advisory Opinion, the Commission noted that the candidate receiving a majority of the first-choice votes would be the Presidential nominee, unless two-thirds of the delegates voted to reject the results of the primary preference ballot and elect the nominee by a direct vote. AO2000-06 at 5, n.5. In the primary preference balloting Mr. Buchanan received twice as many first-choice votes as Mr. Hagelin. Nevertheless, at the Convention more than two thirds of the delegates voted to abandon the primary preference ballot and to determine the nominee by direct vote. The Convention then almost unanimously selected Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster to be the Presidential and Vice-Presidential nominees of the Reform Party. (See Declaration of Gerald Moan, Appendix E).

Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster's selection has been certified by Mr. Gerald Moan, the Chairman of the Reform Party, and by Mr. Tom McLaughlin, its Treasurer. Mr. McLaughlin has been a long time member of the Reform Party. He is also the Treasurer of the National Committee of the Reform Party, the political committee of the Reform Party that is registered with the Commission. Mr. McLaughlin was elected as Treasurer of the Reform Party during a

National Committee meeting in Nashville, and the validity of his election was also confirmed by the District Court in Reform Party of the United States v. Gargan, supra, at 761. Mr. Moan and Mr. McLaughlin are two of the three National Officers of the Reform Party who appear on the call to the Convention.<sup>7</sup> Moreover, since the early part of this year, and with the explicit approval of the National Committee of the Reform Party and the District Court, they have been the representatives from the Reform Party to the Commission. Common sense dictates that the Commission should continue to rely on them in ascertaining the nominees of the Reform Party.

The Commission need not, and indeed should not, consider complaints about the internal processes of the Reform Party leading up to the Convention or at the Convention, such as the seating of Convention delegates. The Reform Party Constitution – like most party constitutions – makes the Convention the “supreme governing body” of the Reform Party and gives the Convention all power and authority over the affairs of the Reform Party.<sup>8</sup> As the District Court noted in Reform Party v. Gargan:

Courts are traditionally reluctant to interfere with the internal operations of political parties. Irish v. Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party of Minnesota, 399 F.2d 119, 120 (8th Cir. 1968), citing Lynch v. Torquato, 343 F.2d 370 (3d Cir. 1965). Specifically, with regard to the credentialing of delegates the national party determines whether a state’s delegates are seated at a national party convention. See Democratic Party of United States v. Wisconsin, 450 U.S. 107, 126, 101 S.Ct. 1010, 67 L.Ed.2d 82 (1981); See also Cousins v. Wigoda, 419 U.S. 477, 489, 95 S.Ct. 541, 42 L.Ed.2d 595 (1975) (holding that the First Amendment protected the party’s right to determine the composition of state delegations). Ultimately, “the proper forum for determining intra-party disputes as to which delegates shall be seated” is the convention itself. O’Brien v. Brown, 409 U.S. 1, 4, 92 S.Ct. 2718, 34 L.Ed.2d 1 (1972), vacated as moot, 409 U.S. 816, 93 S.Ct. 67, 34 L.Ed.2d 72,

<sup>7</sup> The Reform Party Constitution provides for four “National Officers,” a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, a Secretary, and a Treasurer. With the resignation of Mr. Choate as Chairman, only three officers remained.

<sup>8</sup> Democratic-Farmer-Labor State Central Committee v. Holm, 33 N.W. 2d 831 (1948); State, Ex Rel Hans Fosser v. Lavik, 83 N.W. 914 (1900); see also Reform Party Constitution, Art. III, § 9(a), (b).

73; see also Irish, 399 F.2d at 120 ("the attitude [of the courts] has been one of reluctance and of willingness to have the challenged body initially given the opportunity to attempt to reorganize itself").

89 F.Supp.2d at 760.<sup>9</sup> Thus, even the courts – which are clearly better suited than the Commission to consider objections to the internal processes of political organizations – have refused to entertain such issues, particularly where, as here, the objections were not raised to the Convention itself.

B. Mr. Hagelin Has No Basis For the Claim That He Is the Reform Party Nominee

Mr. Hagelin's representation that he is the nominee for the Office of President of the United States for the Reform Party of the United States of America is invalid, as it has absolutely no legal support, and is clearly a claim asserted without authorization from the official Reform Party of the United States of America.

If we examine the primary preference ballot, Mr. Buchanan defeated Mr. Hagelin by a margin of approximately 2 to 1. Although more than two-thirds of the delegates to the Convention did in fact vote to set aside the ballot, Mr. Hagelin cannot rely on that vote and, at the same time ignore the selection (by those same delegates) of Mr. Buchanan and Ms. Foster as the Reform Party nominees.

To the extent Mr. Hagelin contends that the splinter group of delegates supporting his nomination represents the official view and decision of the Reform Party of the United States of America, his argument is utterly without legal merit. In numerous cases, courts have held that a minority of delegates to a political convention cannot withdraw from the regular convention and successfully claim that they constitute the legal party convention. Democratic-Farmer-Labor State Central Committee v. Holm, 33 N.W. 2d 831, 833-38 (S.D. 1948); State ex rel. Howells v. Metcalf, 100 N.W. 923, 925-26 (S.D. 1904); State ex rel. Gronvold v. Porter, 91 N.W. 944 (N.D. 1902). Mere assertion of the claim that a splinter faction of delegates represents the official Reform Party is inadequate to support the contention that Mr. Hagelin's nomination is proper.

<sup>9</sup> See also Democratic-Farmer-Labor State Central Committee v. Holm, 33 N.W. 2d 831 (1948); State, Ex Rel Hans Fosser v. Lavik, 83 N.W. 914 (1900).

C. Mr. Hagelin's Allegations of Irregularity In the Nominating Process Are Without Merit

As we have indicated above the Commission need only consider the results of the Reform Party Convention, and, consistent with the overwhelming weight of court precedent, the Commission neither can, nor should, entertain Mr. Hagelin's allegations of irregularity in the process under the Reform Party Rules.<sup>10</sup> Nevertheless, we will, for the sake of completeness, address these allegations below and show their total lack of merit.

Mr. Hagelin's primary contention is that Mr. Buchanan was "disqualified" from the primary preference balloting at a meeting of the Executive Committee because he had allegedly supplied to the Reform Party Presidential Nominating Committee the names of persons (to receive ballots) who had not "requested ballots" as required under Section IV(2)(c) of the Rules.<sup>11</sup> Mr. Hagelin's contention is specious for several sound factual and legal reasons, and the "process" of Mr. Buchanan's alleged disqualification reveals in stark terms the lack of procedural or factual integrity that has characterized the actions of the dissident few who refuse to accept that Mr. Buchanan is the choice of the overwhelming majority of the Reform Party members.

<sup>10</sup> A copy of the Rules for the Selection of Reform Party of the United States Nominees for President and Vice President of the United States is attached as Appendix F.

<sup>11</sup> It is worth noting that Section IV(2) includes three separate criteria for eligibility to receive Reform Party Presidential Primary ballots. See Appendix D, Section IV(2)(a) & (b).

First, Mr. Buchanan's alleged disqualification from the ballot at the purported Executive Committee meeting is irrelevant, since the Rules provide that the ballot may be set aside, and the nominee for President elected by a direct vote of the delegates. (See Appendix D, Section IV(11)). Since the ballot was set aside at the Convention and since Mr. Buchanan was nominated by the direct vote of the delegates, the dispute about the "ballot" is moot.

Second, neither the Executive Committee nor the PNC had any authority under the rules to disqualify Mr. Buchanan. The rules provide that once the ballot is distributed only the Convention can overturn or disregard its results. Mr. Dale Cooter, the Reform Party General Counsel, confirmed that interpretation of the Rules.<sup>12</sup>

Third, the PNC did not vote to disqualify Mr. Buchanan. To the contrary, the disqualification vote did not carry because Mr. Moan, the recognized Chairman of the Party and Mr. McLaughlin, its recognized Treasurer, who were ex officio members with the right to vote, appeared and voted against the illegal disqualification effort.<sup>13</sup> Moreover, the purported Executive Committee meeting at which Mr. Buchanan was allegedly disqualified was not properly called and, in any event, had no authority to overrule the decision of the PNC.

Finally, the alleged disqualification of Mr. Buchanan rested not on any evidence of wrongdoing, but on Mr. Buchanan's refusal to cooperate with the ultra vires actions of the PNC, a refusal that was based on the advice of the Reform Party General Counsel that the matter could not be addressed legally by the PNC, but only by the Convention. The Executive Committee's decision was totally arbitrary, unsupported, and unjustified.

CONCLUSION

For the above reasons, the complaint should be dismissed.

Respectfully submitted,

DECLARATION OF GERALD M. MOAN

I, Gerald M. Moan, declare and state as follows:

1. Pursuant to the Reform Party Constitution, a National Committee meeting may be called by the National Party Chair or by action of one-fourth of all National Committee members. More than 30 days prior to the Reform Party's Nominating Convention held in Long Beach, California, more than one-fourth of the National Committee members called for a National Committee meeting to be held in Long Beach on August 8, 2000. Pursuant to proper notification, the National Committee meeting was convened at 10:00 on August 8, 2000 at the Westin Hotel in Long Beach. In his sworn statements, Mr. Mangia does not dispute that the National Committee meeting was properly called.

2. As National Party Chairman, I called the meeting to order and seated as National Committee members all persons who had been certified (as of August 2, 2000) as National Committee members on the then-official Reform Party website by then Secretary Mangia. Approximately 160 National Committee members were seated.

3. After the National Committee members were seated, Mr. Mangia stated that approximately 120 members were challenged even though he himself had certified the list of National Committee members only days before the Long Beach meeting. This assertion of challenge to the seating and certification of National Committee members was made without documentation or verification. Although a state-by-state roll was taken, Mr. Mangia asserted that anyone who was challenged could not be counted, and he declared that there was not a quorum because there were only approximately 40 delegates in attendance who had not been challenged. I refused to accept Mr. Mangia's absurd position, and the approximately 160 National Committee members voted overwhelmingly to uphold my ruling that a quorum of the National Committee members were present.

4. At the same meeting, I later ruled that every delegate could vote on any challenge to the verification and seating of National Committee members, as long as the challenge did not involve their respective state members. Again, the 160 members of the National Committee overwhelmingly upheld my ruling on this issue.

5. Unhappy with these rulings of the Chair and the National Committee, Mr. Mangia, and the 22 National Committee members who supported him left the room.

6. The meeting proceeded to hear challenges from the floor. The National Committee resolved all of those challenges, thereby ending the credentialing process of the National Committee. The National Committee Meeting was then opened for substantive business. Included in the business portion of the meeting was a resolution by the National Committee members that all resolutions of the Executive Committee dated from July 5, 2000 until the meeting of the National Committee, including the July 29, 2000 resolutions of the Executive Committee (one of which attempted to invalidate the candidacy of Patrick J. Buchanan), were void ab initio.

7. The Nominating Convention opened on Thursday, August 10, 2000. While the Reform Party administrative staff was in the process of issuing credentials to delegates, the main convention meeting room was not yet opened. Mr. Mangia and others attempted to force their way into the locked room, which attempt was stopped by Convention Center security and members of the Long Beach Police Department. After that, supporters of Mr. Hagelin staged another demonstration, which was again controlled by Convention Center security and the Long Beach police department. The Hagelin supporters then left the Convention Center.

8. I called the Nominating Convention to order. The National Convention heard and resolved all challenges to the credentialing for the Convention. The Hagelin supporters never made any attempt to attend the Convention or to be heard on any challenges to the credentialing process or the seating of delegates. Thereafter, the Convention was open for substantive business without any further attempt at participation by the Hagelin supporters who thereby waived their right to challenge any of the ruling of the National Convention.

9. Prior to the Nominating Convention, Reform Party members participated in a mail-in nominating procedure. As the supreme governing body of the Reform Party, and pursuant to a motion made by the requisite number of the State Delegations, the Convention, which I chaired, voted by more than a two-thirds vote of the delegates to disregard the results of the mail-in procedure, and instead nominated Patrick J. Buchanan as the Presidential candidate by a roll call vote of the Convention delegates. Ezola Foster was nominated as the Party's Vice-Presidential candidate.

10. Pursuant to the Constitution, the National Convention also elected its National Officers: Gerald Moan as Chairman; Frank Reed as Vice Chairman; Philip Alexander as Secretary; and Thomas McLaughlin as Treasurer. James Mangia was recalled as the Secretary.

11. Upon information and belief, Mr. Mangia, Mr. Hagelin and others acting in concert with him, gathered across the street from the Reform Party Nominating Convention.

09/05/2000 12:06 15208837450 FAX1 SWITON

12. During the course of this gathering, the participants obtained the mail-in ballots which resulted from the mail-in nominating process. The gathering proceeded to count the mail-in votes, and Patrick J. Buchanan won by a margin of approximately 2 to 1. Upon information and belief, unhappy with that result, the gathering simply invalidated every Buchanan vote, and declared Mr. Hagelin the winner of the mail-in voting, and purported to nominate Mr. Hagelin as "Reform Party" Presidential candidate.

I declare and affirm that the foregoing is true and correct under penalty of perjury.

The Presidential Nominations Committee shall have the authority to remove a state from the list by unanimous vote.

(2) To qualify for the Primary, candidates shall be required to qualify for the ballot as an independent candidate for President of the United States in states contained in the list compiled in accordance with III-(1).

- (a) been certified by a given state to have the candidate's name placed on the general election ballot as an independent candidate for President, or
- (b) fulfilled a significant portion of the requirements to have the candidate's name placed on the general election ballot as an independent candidate for President in states where the date for certification falls after July 1.

The Presidential Nominations Committee shall specify the exact requirements for each state which fall under III-(3)(b) no later than November 1 of the year immediately preceding the presidential election year and such requirements shall be approved by unanimous vote. with III-(3) as all candidates within the compact qualifying for the ballot.

Section IV. The Reform Party Presidential Primary and Selection of the Reform Party Presidential Nominee

(1) The Reform Party Presidential Primary shall be held between July 4 of the presidential election year and the meeting of the National Convention in the presidential election year.

(2) A primary ballot shall be distributed to the following registered voters of the United States:

- (a) voters who are members of State Parties as identified by lists provided to the Presidential Nominations Committee in accordance with I-(6).
- (b) voters signing petitions submitted by candidates in accordance with III-(4)
- (c) voters contacting the various State Parties specifically requesting to participate in the Reform Party Presidential Primary as identified by lists provided to the Presidential Nominations Committee in accordance with I-(6). The Presidential Nominations Committee shall take such actions in order that no individual receives more than one primary ballot.

(3) Each candidate who is considered to have qualified for the Primary shall be considered a Primary Candidate.

(4) The names of the Primary Candidates on the primary ballot shall appear in a random order as determined by the Presidential Nominations Committee. The random determination of the order of the names shall be open and representatives for each Primary Candidate shall be allowed to observe.

(5) The primary ballot shall consist of:

- (a) the names of Primary Candidates in accordance with IV-(4)
- (b) columns labeled "First Choice", "Second Choice", and "Third Choice" next to each of the Primary Candidates' names
- (c) an identification number for the ballot

(1) The identification number shall be used within the Reform Party Presidential Nomination Process solely to determine the validity or invalidity of the cast ballot and to determine the state of residence of the voter casting the ballot.

(2) No efforts shall be made to use the identification numbers to identify or record how certain individuals voted within the Primary.

(6) The Presidential Nominations Committee shall construct the primary ballot in such a manner as to provide an efficient manner of tallying the votes cast in accordance with these rules.

(7) For a vote to be considered valid within the Primary, the vote must be received by the Presidential Nominations Committee:

- (a) prior to the start of the Reform Party National Convention, and
- (b) in person, by mail, by phone, or by internet in a manner proscribed by the Presidential Nominations Committee in accordance with these rules.

(8) Votes within the Primary shall be recorded as follows:

- (a) Primary votes cast with a valid identification number shall be recorded.
- (b) Primary votes cast without a valid identification number or with an invalid identification number shall not be recorded.
- (c) From the total number of recorded votes, the number of votes from each state shall be recorded.
- (d) Within the recording of votes from each state, the number of votes cast for each Primary Candidate as "First Choice" shall be recorded.
- (e) Within the recording of votes for each Primary Candidate as "First Choice", the number of votes cast for each Primary Candidate as "Second Choice" shall be recorded.
- (f) Within the recording of votes for each Primary Candidate as "Second Choice", the number of votes cast for each Primary Candidate as "Third Choice" shall be recorded.

(9) The votes cast for each Primary Candidate from a given state in a given round of voting shall be determined as follows:

- (a) In the first round of voting, each Primary Candidate shall receive all votes recorded for the given Primary Candidate as "First Choice".
- (b) If the current round of voting is a runoff round, the Primary Candidate receiving the lowest number of votes in the previous round is eliminated from the runoff.
- (c) In runoff rounds of voting, each remaining Primary Candidate shall receive all votes recorded for the given Primary Candidate as the highest choice among the remaining Primary Candidates. For purposes of this section, "First Choice" is considered a higher choice than "Second Choice" and "Third Choice", and "Second Choice" is considered a higher choice than "Third Choice".
- (d) All votes recorded in which none of the Primary Candidates in the current round of voting are selected as "choices" shall not be counted towards calculating the majority of the votes cast.

(10) Results of the Primary shall be announced during the Reform Party National Convention at a time set by the approved agenda of the Convention as follows unless the Primary is overridden in accordance with IV-(11):

(a) Representatives from each State Party shall announce from the floor of the Convention the number of primary votes cast from their state for each Primary Candidate as provided by the Presidential Nominations Committee in accordance with IV-(9). If a discrepancy arises between the number of votes announced and the number of votes cast by the Presidential Nominations Committee, the number of votes cast shall take precedence.

(b) If no Primary Candidate receives at least a majority of the votes cast in any round of voting, the Convention Chair shall announce that a runoff shall take place in accordance with these rules. The results of the next round of voting shall be announced as proscribed in IV-(9)(a) no earlier than thirty (30) minutes following the announcement of the runoff.

(c) If a Primary Candidate receives at least a majority of the votes cast in any round of voting, the Convention Chair shall announce that the Primary Candidate receiving at least a majority of the votes cast in the Primary is the nominee of the Party for President of the United States.

(11) The process of selecting the nominee of the Party for President of the United States by the Primary shall be overridden only as provided for in this section.

(a) A motion to override the Primary shall be considered in order if either of the following conditions are met:

(1) the Secretary of the Party has received certified resolutions from the governing bodies of at least a majority of State Parties making such a motion to override.

(2) the Chair of the Convention has received resolutions from at least a majority of the State Delegations making such a motion to override. A motion to override the Primary shall be considered out of order if neither IV-(11)(a)(1) nor IV-(11)(a)(2) are met. A motion to override the Primary may not be reconsidered.

(b) The Primary shall be overridden if the motion to override is approved by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the National Convention.

(c) If the Primary is overridden, the selection of the Party's nominee for President of the United States shall be conducted in accordance with the rules for selecting the Party's nominee for Vice-President of the United States.

(12) Each Primary Candidate shall be allowed to address the National Convention for a period not to exceed thirty (30) minutes.

(13) Each Primary Candidate shall be allowed to provide a photograph and a five-hundred (500) word statement for inclusion within the primary ballot. The photograph and statement shall be received by the Presidential Nominations Committee no later than July 1 of the presidential election year.

(2) Nominations for Vice-President shall be taken on the floor from Delegates of the National Convention and shall require a second.

(3) In each round of voting, the Convention Chair shall call the roll of the states. Upon the announcement of a state, a Delegate from that state delegation shall announce the number of Delegate votes for each of the candidates for Vice-President.

(4) If no candidate receives at least a majority of the votes cast in any round of voting, the Convention Chair shall announce a runoff. If a runoff is announced, the Vice-Presidential candidate with the lowest number of votes is removed from the next round of voting.

(5) If a candidate receives at least a majority of the votes cast in any round of voting, the Convention Chair shall announce that the candidate receiving at least a majority of the votes cast is the nominee of the Party for Vice- President of the United States.

Section VI. Appeals

If five (5) members of the Executive Committee do not agree to hear such an appeal within twenty (20) days of the initial presentation of the appeal, the appeal shall be considered rejected.

(2) Any appeal must be in writing and shall be limited to the contents of the appeal.

(3) Upon agreeing to hear an appeal, the Executive Committee shall take such necessary action to resolve any appeal which does not violate these rules, the Constitution of the Party, or federal law.

euphemistically be described as "boisterous." Gargan did not open the meeting but instead read a statement. When members in attendance requested that Gargan call the meeting to order, he stated that it was not a legal meeting and that he was not going to call it to order. Nevertheless, Gargan remained in the room at all times, though not always at the microphone. As Vice Chair, Moan then assumed the role of Acting Chair of the meeting and called the body to order. Subsequently, the National Committee passed a motion appointing Tom McLaughlin (who was considered to be more neutral than Moan) to be Acting Chair for the Nashville Meeting only. Votes were then held to remove Gargan, Moan, and Young.

24. The question arose about the meaning of the phrase "two-thirds roll call vote of the registered Members of the National Committee" as it relates to the removal of National Officers. Specifically, the question concerned whether the proper baseline was the 162 members at large (of whom two-thirds would be 108) or the 141 members actually in attendance at the Nashville Meeting (of whom two-thirds would be 94). The parliamentarian advised the Chair that the Party's constitution was ambiguous. The Chair ruled that the phrase meant at least 108 of the 162 at-large members. The Chair's ruling was objected to from the floor and upon advice of the parliamentarian the issue was submitted to the membership, which overruled the Chair by voting that the phrase meant two-thirds of the members registered at the meeting. The parliamentarian testified that this vote was in accord with the Party's constitution and Robert's Rules of Order.

25. The tally to remove both Gargan and Young was 109 votes in the affirmative, which is more than two-thirds of all members at large. [FN2] In addition, a separate vote was held in which Young was removed as Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer. Subsequently, Choate was elected to the position of Interim Chair and McLaughlin was elected to the position of Interim Treasurer. In addition, the National Committee reaffirmed Moan's December 28, 1999 appointment as Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer. Finally, the National Committee voted overwhelmingly not to hold the convention called by Gargan in Las Vegas and to ratify the Executive Committee's decision to hold the Party's 2000 Nominating Convention in Long Beach.

FN2. The vote to remove Moan was unsuccessful.

26. Gargan convened the Las Vegas Convention anyway, at which individuals were elected to the (theoretically vacant) positions of National Party Vice Chair and Secretary. The members of the Las Vegas Convention also elected to hold the Party's 2000 Nominating Convention in St. Paul. Finally, Gargan declared that twenty-five states had been constitutionally decertified for their failure to send the proper number of delegates to the Las Vegas Convention.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

[1] 27. Generally, courts do not concern themselves with whether parliamentary *758 rules are followed; instead, courts are concerned with whether the law of the land is followed. See 59 Am.Jur.2d Parliamentary Law § 4 (1987). Here, a parliamentarian who was employed to advise the Nashville Meeting and who was duly qualified as an expert testified without objection that the meeting was conducted according to the Party's constitution and Robert's Rules of Order. Keeping in mind the admonition above, we discuss the issues raised by the Gargan group.

The Nashville Meeting Was Called at an Invalid Meeting of the Executive Committee

[2] 28. The objection that the Nashville National Committee meeting was called by an invalid January 18, 2000 Executive Committee meeting is answered by the fact that the Nashville Meeting was called pursuant to the request of one-fourth of the members of the National Committee. Authority for this appears in the Party constitution, article IV, section 6. In his e-mail of January 13, 2000, National Secretary Mangia reported that he had the request for a meeting from one-fourth of the committee members and named the members. Therefore, the Nashville Meeting was not illegally called by the Executive Committee, since it was called prior to the January 18 Executive Committee meeting. Thus, this Court does not need to decide the validity of the January 18 Executive Committee meeting.

The National Committee Membership Was Not Given Proper Notice of the Meeting

89 F.Supp.2d 751

(Cite as: 89 F.Supp.2d 751, *758 )

[3] 29. The Party constitution does not explicitly require that notice be provided in advance of a National Committee meeting. However, Robert's Rules of Order (and common sense) require, in the absence of a constitutional provision, that reasonable notice be given. Here, the Party membership was notified by e-mail on January 11, 2000—thirty days before the Nashville Meeting—that one-fourth of the National Committee members had requested a meeting. This was followed by the January 19th call, which included a proposed agenda listing the proposed recall of Gargan and Young. One hundred forty-one of the one hundred sixty-two National Committee members arrived at the meeting. Undoubtedly, there would have been more but for the fact that Gargan contacted the membership and urged them not to attend.

30. The National Committee had passed a resolution at its July Dearborn meeting stating that an agenda be published at least thirty days prior to a National Committee meeting. Thus, the question is whether failure to follow the resolution would invalidate an otherwise valid and constitutional meeting? There is no direct authority in either Robert's Rules of Order or the case law that specifically deals with this situation. Therefore, this Court must reach a conclusion from interpreting the language of the resolution and the Party's constitution.

31. The thirty-day agenda resolution did not require that there be thirty-days notice of a National Committee meeting, but merely that an agenda be published thirty days in advance of the meeting. Inferentially, if an agenda was published thirty days before the meeting there would also be a presumed notice of the meeting. Thus, the Gargan group maintains the rule is that thirty-days notice with an agenda must be sent before any National Committee meeting.

32. However, the plain language of the resolution did not provide that no meeting take place except on thirty-days notice and did not provide that no item of business be considered unless it was on an agenda sent thirty days before the meeting. If the committee meant that no meeting could be held or business be conducted except upon thirty-days notice, it could have said so directly. Moreover, since the resolution only referred to an agenda being published thirty days prior to the meeting, it is contemplated that the agenda requirement would apply to a meeting that was already scheduled for at least thirty days. Thus, the language of the resolution leads this *759 Court to conclude that it was not meant to be a binding notice requirement.

33. Logic also dictates that the resolution was not meant to require that notice be a binding prerequisite to holding a National Committee meeting. The Party's constitution does not specifically provide for an emergency meeting of the National Committee, although it does provide for an emergency meeting of the National Convention to be called by declaration from the Party Chair or by a majority vote of either the Executive or National Committees. See art. III, § 10(e)(1). Since a majority vote of the National Committee is one of three methods by which an emergency National Convention may be called, the constitution contemplates that emergency issues may initially be taken up by the National Committee. However, if thirty-days notice is required prior to the calling of a National Committee meeting, then the National Committee would functionally be precluded from calling a National Convention on an emergency basis. This result would be inconsistent with the structure of the constitution.

34. The functions of the National Committee also make a thirty-day notice requirement constitutionally impossible absent a constitutional amendment. The National Committee had among other duties the following:

...b) the temporary filling of National Officer vacancies,...d) formulating and promoting statements of public policy, which are consistent with the Reform Party Statement of Principles,...e) providing for the raising, budgeting, disbursing and accounting of the monies for the operation of the Reform Party in amounts sufficient to fulfill the Party Object, including setting the dollar amount and payment frequency of any dues, fees and assessments to be paid by the National Party by State Party Organizations,... f) providing for ongoing Reform Party public relations and voter education,...g) providing for the keeping, filing and archival storage of the official books, records and lists of the Reform Party.

Art. IV, § 1. To take one example, it is inconceivable that in the event of the death or resignation of the National Party Chair, the National Committee could not fill his vacancy without having to wait thirty days. In sum, the language of the resolution itself, the interrelationship between the National Committee and National Convention under the constitution, and the functions of the National Committee all dictate that the resolution passed at Dearborn was at best aspirational. Anything greater (in this context) would require that a constitutional amendment be passed by a two-thirds vote of the National Convention. See art. XIII.

35. In addition, the leadership of the Party changed on January 1, 2000 and by that time there were different members of the National Committee than those who had met at Dearborn prior to the Dearborn National Convention. To allow the National Committee in Dearborn to control what would take place at National Committee meetings after January 1, 2000 would in effect violate Robert's Rules of Order and the spirit of the Party's constitution. Normally one body cannot bind the next. See Robert's Rules of Order, Ch. IV, § 8.

36. Accordingly, this Court concludes that the Nashville National Committee meeting did not violate the Party's constitution. Moreover, this Court notes that notice was reasonable and an agenda was sent out at least two weeks before the meeting. Thus, the Nashville Meeting was not invalid for failure of the National Committee members to be given an agenda thirty days prior to the meeting.

Gargan, the Chair who was Present at the Nashville Meeting, Refused to Call the Meeting to Order

[4, 5] 37. While this Court finds that the Nashville Meeting was properly called and a quorum of members attended, a question exists as to whether Gargan (as National Party Chair) was acting within his authority to refuse to call the meeting to Order. This Court finds that he was not.

*760 38. The Reform Party constitution requires the National Party Chair to preside over meetings of the National Committee. Art. VIII, § 2(a) (the chair "shall" preside). Presiding officers cannot arbitrarily defeat the will of a body by refusing to entertain motions or permit expression of the majority's will. 59 Am.Jur.2d Parliamentary Law § 6 (1987). The will of a majority of members of a meeting body supercedes the will of the presiding officer. Id. More to the point, Robert's Rules of Order provides that "[i]f the [Chair] for any reason vacates the chair or is absent, the [Vice Chair] ... normally should take the chair." Ch. XV, § 46.

39. The evidence is undisputed that a majority of the members of the Nashville Meeting desired to have the meeting be called to order; Gargan's refusal to do so was an improper attempt to subvert the will of the controlling body. As such, this Court finds that Gargan was acting improperly and functionally absented himself from the meeting, despite his continuing physical presence in the room. Since the National Party Chair was functionally absent from the room, Vice Chair Moan properly served pursuant to the Party's constitution as "National Party Chair in the absence of the National Party Chair" and appropriately called the meeting to order. See Art. VIII, § 2(b). For this Court to find otherwise would result in the perverse outcome that the Chair could thwart the will of the National Committee, despite the constitution's admonishment that "[e]ach National Officer shall be subject to the proper directives and actions of ... the National Committee." Art. VIII, § 9.

There Were Not Enough Properly Credentialed National Committee Members to Remove Gargan and Young By a Two-Thirds Vote of All Registered Members.

[6, 7] 40. Courts are traditionally reluctant to interfere with the internal operations of political parties. Irish v. Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party of Minnesota, 399 F.2d 119, 120 (8th Cir.1968), citing Lynch v. Torquato, 343 F.2d 370 (3d Cir.1965). Specifically, with regard to the credentialing of delegates the national party determines whether a state's delegates are seated at a national party convention. See Democratic Party of United States v. Wisconsin, 450 U.S. 107, 126, 101 S.Ct. 1010, 67 L.Ed.2d 82 (1981); see also Cousins v. Wigoda, 419 U.S. 477, 489, 95 S.Ct. 541, 42 L.Ed.2d 595 (1975) (holding that the First Amendment protected the party's right to determine the composition of state delegations). Ultimately, "the proper forum for determining intra-party disputes as to which delegates shall be seated" is the convention itself. O'Brien v. Brown, 409 U.S. 1, 4, 92 S.Ct. 2718, 34 L.Ed.2d 1 (1972), vacated as moot, 409 U.S. 816, 93 S.Ct. 67, 34 L.Ed.2d 72, 73; see also Irish, 399 F.2d at 120 ("the attitude [of the courts] has been one of reluctance and of willingness to have the challenged body initially given the opportunity to attempt to reorganize itself").

(Cite as: 89 F.Supp.2d 751, *760)

41. In light of the well-settled proposition that political parties determine their own credentialing procedures, this Court is limited to analyzing the question of whether the Reform Party registered and/or credentialed [FN3] members at the Nashville Meeting pursuant to its own rules and constitution. This Court may not look behind the decisions of the individual state parties to certify members to attend the National Committee meeting at Nashville. So long as the Nashville Meeting credentialed and/or registered members--whoever they may be--pursuant to the Party's rules and constitution, this Court may not upset their decision to associate politically.

FN3. Throughout the trial, the terms "registering" and "credentialing" were used interchangeably.

42. There is no standing committee on the registering and/or credentialing of National Committee members. However, by creating an advisory committee comprised *761 of four people from each competing group to review the registration of members for the Nashville Meeting, National Secretary Mangia created what this Court perceives to be a fair and equitable procedure to register and/or credential members for the meeting. More significantly, this Court finds that--to the extent there were procedures for registering and/or credentialing members from contested states--those procedures were followed by the advisory committee and the members in attendance at the Nashville Meeting.

43. To the extent Gargan challenges the registering and/or credentialing of representatives from specific states, those challenges are without merit. While there was a conflict between competing representatives of the Virginia delegation, neither group was seated at the meeting. Thus, there was no prejudice to Gargan or Young. Similarly, to the extent there was a conflict between competing representatives of the Ohio delegation, those competing factions resolved their seating arrangement among themselves.

44. As for the other nine states where only one (albeit disputed) delegation was sent, the right to challenge that delegation was waived by the failure of an opposing delegation to appear. Since no contesting representatives from those states traveled to Nashville, the body was not obligated to hear challenges to the representatives who did actually arrive. Moreover, no challenges were made to the seating of the disputed representatives from the nine contested states by any National Committee members at the meeting itself. Thus, any argument as to the seating of those members is waived. See Robert's Rules of Order, Ch. XIX, § 58. Finally, to the extent that a challenge existed in the form of a letter from certain members of the Alaska group, Secretary Mangia summarized the contents of that letter to the body which then validly and within its own power reached a decision as to the seating of those representatives.

45. Ultimately, this Court finds that the Party had a procedure to register and/or credential members for the Nashville Meeting and followed that procedure. Since members of a political party have the ultimate right to self-determination, including the ability of a meeting of that party to register and/or credential its own members, this Court finds that the Nashville Meeting's removal of Gargan and Young was not invalid because delegates were not properly registered and/or credentialed.

CONCLUSION

46. As a result of the actions of the Executive Committee at their meeting on December 28, 1999, Young was removed from the position of Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer. However, pursuant to action taken by National Party Chair Gargan in early January 2000, Young was duly re-appointed Chair/Treasurer of the Convention Committee. Art. VII, § 1(a). Young remained Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer until the National Committee recalled him and re-appointed Moan as Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer at the Nashville Meeting.

47. As a result of the actions of the National Committee at the Nashville Meeting, Gargan and Young were divested of any and all authority to represent themselves as the Reform Party's National Party Chair and Treasurer. While there was a dispute at the meeting about the definition of "two-thirds ... of registered Members of the National Committee" as it relates to the removal of National Officers, this Court does not reach a decision on the meaning of that constitutional provision since both Gargan and Young were removed by 109 affirmative votes, which are more than is required under either definition. See Art. VIII, § 6(a).

48. At the Nashville Meeting, Choate was duly-elected as Interim National Party Chair and McLaughlin was duly-elected as Interim National Treasurer.

49. As a result of the actions of the National Committee at the Nashville Meeting, Choate and McLaughlin now possess the authority and are bound by the *762 duties conferred on the Reform Party National Party Chair and the Reform Party National Treasurer by the Reform Party constitution, its governing rules, and federal law.

50. Any actions taken by Gargan or Young, allegedly acting as National Officers of the Reform Party (with regard to the Las Vegas Convention or otherwise), since their removal as National Officers on February 12, 2000, were ultra vires, and without legal effect. Moreover, this Court finds that the Las Vegas Convention, held on March 17-19, 2000, was not a duly-constituted or properly convened Convention of the Reform Party of the United States of America, and any and all actions taken there are null and void as they relate to the Reform Party.

51. The Reform Party will suffer irreparable injury if Gargan and Young are not enjoined from acting as the authorized representatives of the Party.

52. There is no adequate remedy at law for the Reform Party.

ORDER

For the reasons set forth in the attached Opinion, it is hereby ORDERED that John J. Gargan and Ronn Young, and their representatives, agents, servants, employees and attorneys, and any and all persons acting in concert with them, are hereby enjoined from acting as officers or authorized representatives of the Reform Party of the United States of America, including the Convention Committee, and shall hereby immediately cease and desist from any and all activities in such representative capacity, including, but not limited to: (1) solicitation of donations on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or the Convention Committee; (2) distribution of Press Releases on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or the Convention Committee; (3) operation of an official web-site on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or the Convention Committee; (4) expenditure of funds on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or the Convention Committee; (5) solicitation of party members on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America; (6) organization of a national convention on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or the Convention Committee; (7) making any use of the name of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or the Convention Committee, or any substantially similar variant or derivation thereof; (8) making use of any logos, non-textual trademarks or service marks belonging to the Reform Party of the United States of America; and (9) making any other oral, written or electronic communication in a representative capacity on behalf of the Reform Party of the United States of America, or its Convention Committee.

Furthermore, it is hereby ORDERED that funds currently being held in the Registry of the Court, pursuant to prior order of this Court, will be released to the custody of Gerald Moan, as Chairman of the Convention Committee of the Reform Party of the United States of America. Since the Reform Party is under an obligation to comply with agreements filed pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 9008.3(a)(1), this Court requires the Reform Party to acknowledge its obligations in writing to this Court prior to and as a condition of the release of any and all funds held in the Registry of the Court. [FN1] Upon release of the funds, the Reform Party shall deposit and maintain all funds released to them in a depository account properly registered with the Federal Election Commission, shall provide the Federal Election Commission with notice of any changes in the information provided in its application for federal funds that was submitted in September, 1999, *763 and shall specify to the Federal Election Commission the depository to which the United States Treasury should direct any supplemental payment of convention funds pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 9008.5.

FN1. The Federal Election Commission filed an amicus brief without objection by either party. While the Commission did not take a position regarding who are the properly elected officers of the Reform Party, it did suggest that the Court include in its Order certain language regarding the legal obligations of the parties concerning the use of federal election funds. This Court has decided to adopt and integrate that language into this Order.

Furthermore, it is hereby ORDERED that John J. Gargan and Ronn Young shall turn over all documentation regarding convention funding and disbursements made by the Reform Party 2000 Convention Committee (or on its behalf) to the Reform Party of the United States of America, who are responsible under the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act to provide all such information to the Federal Election Commission for any post-convention audit.

The Clerk of the Court is hereby directed to send a certified copy of this Order and attached Opinion to all counsel of record and to Stephen E. Hershkowitz, Assistant General Counsel, Federal Election Commission, 999 E Street, NW, Washington, DC 20463.

March 27, 2000.

Ousted chair and treasurer of national political party sued party, challenging validity of procedure by which chair and treasurer were removed from their positions. Replacements sued to enjoin claimants from interfering with their conduct of party affairs. The District Court, Moon, J., held that: (1) meeting of national committee of party, at which decision to oust chair and treasurer was made, was validly called; (2) notice given was adequate, despite noncompliance with resolution that agenda be presented 30 days in advance of meeting; (3) ousted chair acted improperly by refusing to call meeting to order; and (4) delegates to meeting were properly credentialed.

OPINION

MOON, District Judge.

John J. Gargan and Pat Choate each claim to be the Chair of the Reform Party of the United States of America (hereinafter "Reform Party" or "Party"). Gargan and his ally Ronn Young were elected National Party Chair and Treasurer, respectively, at a National Convention in Dearborn, Michigan in July, 1999 (hereinafter "Dearborn Convention"). Choate claims to be the National Party Chair by virtue of a vote of more than two-thirds of the Party's National Committee on February 12, 2000 in Nashville, Tennessee (hereinafter "Nashville Meeting"), which recalled Gargan and Young and elected Choate and Tom McLaughlin as Interim Party Chair and Treasurer, respectively. Young filed suit in the United States District Court for the Western District of Virginia, Harrisonburg Division, seeking among other things for the Court to order Russell Verney, Gerald Moan, and various other individuals aligned with Choate (hereinafter "Choate group") to cease interfering with the administration of Gargan and Young (hereinafter "Gargan group") in their operation of the Reform Party. The Choate group filed suit against the Gargan group in the United States District Court for the Western District of Virginia, Lynchburg Division, seeking *753 among other things for the Court to enjoin the Gargan group from interfering with the Choate group's operations of the Reform Party.

On February 24, 2000, this Court, in the Lynchburg case, ordered the Gargan group to pay into the registry of the Court approximately $2.5 million in federal money it had received from the Federal Election Commission (hereinafter "FEC" or "Commission") to be held preliminarily until a decision as to the rightful leadership of the Party could be determined at a trial to begin on March 22, 2000. On March 13, 2000, the Harrisonburg and Lynchburg cases were consolidated for trial. On March 16, 2000, this Court bifurcated the case for trial purposes, ordering that only the issue of the rightful leadership of the Reform Party would be heard beginning on March 22 and postponing until a later date a trial (if necessary) on subsequent damages.

The essential question before this Court is whether the February 12, 2000 Nashville Meeting, purporting to be a meeting of the National Committee of the Reform Party at which Gargan and Young were recalled as officers, was a duly constituted meeting of the National Committee with the power to take such actions? The Gargan group maintains that the meeting was not a duly constituted meeting with authority to remove him as National Party Chair for the following reasons:

1. The Nashville Meeting was called at an invalid meeting of the Executive Committee,
2. The National Committee membership was not given proper notice of the meeting,
3. Gargan, the Chair who was present at the Nashville Meeting, refused to call the meeting to order, and
4. There were not enough properly credentialed National Committee members to remove Gargan and Young by a two-thirds vote of all registered members.

The Court concludes that the February 12, 2000 Nashville Meeting was called at the request of one-fourth of members of the National Committee, that reasonable notice was given of this meeting, that the meeting was properly called to order and presided over by the Party's Vice Chair, and that more than two-thirds of the registered members of the National Committee voted to recall Gargan and Young and to elect Choate and McLaughlin to succeed them as National Party Chair and Treasurer, respectively. Therefore, the February 12, 2000 Nashville Meeting was a duly constituted meeting of the Reform Party National Committee with authority to remove its officers and elect new ones.

JURISDICTION

This Court has diversity jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332 and federal question jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331, in that this matter arises under the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, 2 U.S.C. § 431, et seq. Venue properly rests in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(2) and (3).

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The Reform Party of the United States of America is a national political party organization registered with the Federal Election Commission. The Reform Party is a minor party, which is defined as a political party "whose candidate for the office of President in the preceding presidential election received, as the candidate of such party, 5 percent or more, but less than 25 percent of the total number of popular votes received by all candidates for such office." 26 U.S.C. § 9002(7); 11 C.F.R. § 9008.2(d).

2. As a minor party, the Reform Party is entitled to federal funding of its quadrennial presidential nominating convention under the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act. See 26 U.S.C. § 9008. Under funding formulas set forth by statute and FEC regulations, the Reform Party was entitled to $2,468,921 in convention funds. See 26 U.S.C. § 9008(b)(2); 11 C.F.R. § 9008.4(b).

*754 3. To qualify for entitlement and to receive benefits, minor political parties must establish a Convention Committee, which in turn must register with the FEC as a political committee pursuant to 11 C.F.R. part 102. See 26 U.S.C. § 9008(b)(3); 11 C.F.R. § 9008.3(a). The Party's National Committee must file an application statement containing certain information prescribed by the Commission at 11 C.F.R. § 9008.3(a)(3). By letter, the Convention Committee must agree to certain conditions set forth at 11 C.F.R. § 9008.3(a)(4). That section further provides that the agreement is also binding upon the National Committee.

4. The Reform Party is governed by a constitution that was adopted on November 2, 1997. The constitution specifically states that "[t]he rules contained in the current edition of Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, shall govern this convention in all cases to which they are applicable and are not inconsistent with any Rules, Bylaws, Constitution or resolutions adopted by the National Convention or National Committee." Art. XII. The Reform Party has not passed any bylaws.

5. The Reform Party constitution provides for a National Convention, which shall be "the supreme governing body of the Reform Party at the national level." Art. III, § 9(a). Under the National Convention is a National Committee, which shall be "responsible for the conducting of the business and affairs of the Reform Party between sessions of the National Convention." Art. IV, § 1. Under the National Committee is an Executive Committee, which shall be "responsible for the conducting of the day to day business and affairs of the Reform Party, between meetings of the National Committee." Art. V, § 1.

6. The Reform Party constitution also provides for the National Party Officers of Chair, Vice Chair, Secretary, and Treasurer. Art. VIII, § 1. Among other duties, the National Party Chair presides over meetings of the Executive Committee, National Committee, and National Conventions. Art. VIII, § 2(a). The Party's constitution provides that the Vice Chair shall serve as the National Party Chair in the Chair's absence. Art. VIII, § 2(b). The Party's Secretary performs many functions, including recording the proceedings of all meetings and providing official notice of all meetings of the Executive and National Committees and the National Convention. Art. VIII, § 2(c). Any National Officer may be removed by a two-thirds roll call vote of the registered members of the National Committee. Art. VIII, § 6(a). The four National Party Officers, along with seven regional representatives, comprise the Executive Committee. Art. V, § 2.

7. A Reform Party National Convention was held on July 23-25, 1999, in Dearborn, Michigan. The Dearborn Convention elected John J. Gargan to succeed Russell Verney as National Party Chair and Ronn Young to succeed Michael Morris as National Treasurer, both effective January 1, 2000. In addition, the Dearborn Convention elected Gerry Moan and Jim Mangia to serve as National Party Vice Chair and Secretary, respectively.

8. A National Committee Meeting was held immediately before the Dearborn Convention on July 23, 1999. At the National Committee Meeting, Sue Harris DeBauche (wife of Ronn Young) made a motion "that in the future a national committee agenda for the meeting be published 30 days prior to the meeting." The motion passed.

9. An Executive Committee meeting was convened on September 1, 1999, during which the committee elected to hold the Party's 2000 Nominating

Convention in Long Beach, California rather than St. Paul, Minnesota. The convention site was chosen by a two-thirds majority vote of the eleven-member Executive Committee. However, the Long Beach site only received a passing two-thirds majority after two previous and unsuccessful votes. Also at that meeting, Young was unanimously appointed Chair and Treasurer (hereinafter *755 "Chair/Treasurer") of the Party's 2000 Convention Committee, a special committee of the Reform Party formed to carry out the business of effectuating plans for the Reform Party's 2000 Presidential Nomination Convention (hereinafter "2000 Nominating Convention"). Under the Reform Party constitution, the chair of a special committee (such as the Convention Committee) shall be appointed by the National Party Chair. Art. VII, § 1(a).

10. By letter dated September 10, 1999, the Reform Party submitted an application statement to the FEC seeking federal funding for the Party's 2000 Nominating Convention. Verney, as the (lame-duck) National Party Chair, and Young, as Chair/Treasurer of the Convention Committee, also submitted a letter of agreements pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 9008.3. On November 23, the FEC certified $2,468,921 to the Secretary of the Treasury to be paid to the Reform Party 2000 Convention Committee pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 9008(g) and 11 C.F.R. § 9008.6(d). The Party's Convention Committee received the funds on or about December 8 and deposited the money with First Citizens Bank in Martinsville, Virginia.

11. A National Committee meeting (conducted by mail ballot) was convened on November 29, 1999, at which the committee's members voted to hold the Party's 2000 Nominating Convention in St. Paul. However, the parties are in dispute as to whether a quorum existed at that meeting, and there is insufficient evidence in the record for this Court to make such a determination.

12. An Executive Committee meeting was held on December 16, 1999, at which concern was raised about the amount of time it was taking Young to sign a contract with the Long Beach Convention Center. The Executive Committee passed a motion that directed Young to sign a contract with Long Beach by December 23.

13. On December 28, 1999, the Executive Committee determined that Young had not complied with their directive. While Young had signed a contract with the Long Beach Convention Center, he attached a letter which certain members of the committee believed undermined their dealings with Long Beach. In addition, Young sent to Long Beach a $2,000 deposit when the Committee had agreed that $12,000 was required. However, there was an addendum to the contract Young signed that held the Long Beach site open until January 10, 2000, so long as $2,000 was deposited.

14. The Executive Committee voted to remove Young as Chair/Treasurer of the Convention Committee on December 28 and replaced him with Gerry Moan. In a letter dated December 30, 1999, Moan wrote to First Citizens Bank to inform them that he was the new Reform Party Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer. On the same date, Moan notified the FEC of the change in leadership of the Convention Committee.

15. On January 1, 2000, Gargan, Moan, Mangia, and Young assumed their positions as National Party Chair, Vice Chair, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively. Immediately upon assuming the position of Chair, Gargan replaced Moan with Young as Convention Committee Chair/Treasurer. The Party's constitution provides that the Chair of a special committee (such as the Convention Committee) "shall be appointed by the National Party Chair." Art. VII, § 1(a). Moan received notice of Gargan's actions sometime during the first week of January, 2000. Despite his being removed as Chair/Treasurer of the Convention Committee and his acknowledged notice of his removal, Moan wrote a letter to the Long Beach Convention Center on January 11 notifying them that it was the intention of the majority of the members of the Party that the 2000 Nominating Convention be held in Long Beach.

16. An Executive Committee Meeting was held on January 9, 2000, at which the issue of the location of the Party's 2000 Nominating Convention arose. A heated debate ensued between certain members of the Executive Committee and Gargan *756 concerning the convention's proposed location. Gargan initially declared the November 29, 1999 vote of the National Committee to be valid and stated that he would direct Young to cancel the Party's contract with Long Beach. After much rancor, the Executive Committee voted on and unanimously approved an independent site selection committee as a compromise between Gargan and other members of the committee.

(Cite as: 89 F.Supp.2d 751, *756)

17. No later than January 13, 2000, National Secretary Mangia sent the following e-mail to all National Committee members:

I have received correspondence from more than 25% of National Committee members calling for an "in-person" meeting of the National Committee. According to the Reform Party Constitution this action requires that a meeting of the National Committee be set, to be held in person. I believe it is the responsibility of the Executive Committee to specify a time and place for the meeting.

A National Committee meeting may be called by the National Party Chair or by action of one-fourth of all National Committee members. Art. IV, § 6. Mangia had notice from more than one-fourth of National Committee members on or before January 13 requesting that a National Committee meeting be held.

18. In the meantime, a contract was signed with a convention center in St. Paul to host the Party's 2000 Nominating Convention. As a result, another Executive Committee meeting was held on January 18, 2000. After Moan called the meeting to order, Gargan stated that he believed the meeting was not legally constituted and left the call. [FN1] Young and DeBauche (a regional representative on the Executive Committee) also left the call. After the remaining committee members voted to proceed, Moan proposed to hold the National Committee meeting on February 12, 2000 in Nashville, Tennessee. The remaining Executive Committee members approved the motion by a vote of 6-1.

FN1. The January 18 Executive Committee meeting, like all of the other Executive Committee meetings referenced in this Opinion, was held via teleconference.

19. On January 19, 2000, Mangia mailed a call to National Committee members informing them that the Executive Committee had set the date and time of the Nashville National Committee meeting. The notice also included a proposed agenda for the Nashville Meeting, including the recall of Gargan, Moan, and Young.

20. Another Executive Committee meeting was held on February 2, 2000, at which a tentative agenda was unanimously approved for the Nashville Meeting. Gargan and Young were present at the meeting. In the meantime, Gargan issued a call for an emergency National Convention to be held in Las Vegas, Nevada from March 17-19, 2000 (hereinafter "Las Vegas Convention"). Gargan also sent two e-mails to National Committee members urging them not to attend the Nashville Meeting in order to deny it a quorum.

21. The day before the Nashville Meeting, Mangia formed an advisory committee of four people aligned with Gargan and four people aligned with Pat Choate to meet with him that night and review any challenges over the seating of National Committee members. Initially, eleven states were challenged. The challenged states were Alaska, Hawaii, Louisiana, Maryland, New Jersey, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wyoming. In each case, the committee evaluated the evidence and voted on recommendations for each challenge.

22. In the cases of Virginia and Ohio, two separate and competing groups of representatives wished to be seated; in Virginia, neither group was seated whereas in Ohio both groups resolved their conflict internally. In the case of Alaska, Mangia received a letter from a group of Reform Party members who could not attend due to the recent Alaska Airlines crash. Another competing group of Party members *757 from Alaska arrived instead. Mangia summarized the contents of the letter for the members in attendance at the Nashville Meeting, which ultimately voted to seat the Alaska representatives who had actually arrived. In the other eight states, the only challenge came from DeBauche within the advisory committee the night before the Nashville Meeting; there was neither a contest over which representatives from a given state were to be seated nor a challenge to their being seated at the Nashville Meeting itself. Representatives from the remaining eight states were all ultimately seated by the members in attendance at the meeting. All the representatives from the challenged states voted to recall both Gargan and Young.

23. The events that transpired immediately prior to the Nashville Meeting being convened can

Supreme Court of Minnesota

227 Minn. 52; 33 N.W.2d 831; 1948 Minn. LEXIS 639

September 2, 1948

PRIOR HISTORY: [***1]

Original proceeding in supreme court upon the petition of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor State Central Committee and Orville L. Freeman and Curtiss Olson, its chairman and secretary respectively, for an order requiring Mike Holm as secretary of state to reject a certificate previously filed by interveners naming the nominees for presidential electors of said party and to receive and file the certificate of petitioners naming the nominees for such electors.

DISPOSITION: Writ issued.

CORE TERMS: convention, delegate, certificate, elector, nomination, election, presidential, nominated, secretary of state, political convention, qualification, contest, chairman, ballot, county convention, credential, quorum, central committee, candidates, regular, nominee, usage, withdrawing, oppression, organize, supplied, elected, seats, purporting, regularity

HEADNOTES: Constitution -- judicial powers -- review of actions of political conventions -- determination of factional controversies within party.

1. The rule with regard to judicial review of the actions of political conventions is that in factional controversies within the party, where there is no controlling statute or clear right based on statute law, the courts will not assume jurisdiction, but will leave the matter for determination within the party organization.

Election -- organization and functions of political convention -- "quorum" competent to transact business.

2. Absent a controlling statute, a political convention is the judge of the election, qualifications, and returns of its own [***2] members. Such a convention is not a select body requiring the presence of a majority of all persons entitled to participate in order to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. If that convention is regularly called, those who actually assemble constitute a quorum, and a majority of those voting is competent to transact business. The withdrawal of either a majority or minority does not affect the right of those remaining to proceed with the business of the convention, and those withdrawing cannot claim to be the legal party convention.

Election -- organization and functions of political convention -- nomination of presidential electors.

3. Tested by the foregoing rules, the Democratic-Farmer-Labor convention held at Brainerd on June 12 and 13, 1948, was the duly called and legally organized convention of that party and continued to be such during its session. The persons nominated for presidential electors by that convention are the party nominees.

Election -- organization and functions of political convention -- supreme court without jurisdiction to determine contests for seats in convention.

4. Since the interveners in their answer concede that [***3] the Brainerd convention was legally called and organized, it was the judge of the qualifications and right to seats of its members, and this court is without jurisdiction to pass upon the question as to whether it rightfully determined the contests of delegates for seats in that convention. Such being the law, there is no issue of fact made by the pleadings over which we have jurisdiction requiring a reference.

Election -- organization and functions of political convention -- nomination of presidential electors.

5. The petitioners are entitled to the order and writ of this court commanding the secretary of state, respondent herein, to reject the certificate of nomination of presidential electors filed with him June 14, 1948, by the interveners herein and to accept and file the certificate of the petitioners, if that be in proper form.

OPINIONBY: LORING

OPINION: [*53] [**832] This is a proceeding in this court under M.S.A. 205.78 initiated by petition by those purporting to be the chairman and the secretary of the state central committee of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, which, for the sake of convenience, will hereinafter be referred to as the DFL party, seeking an order or writ requiring the secretary of state to correct a claimed error or omission in the [*54] preparation of ballots for the general election to be held November 2, 1948, insofar as those ballots contain the names of presidential electors nominated by the convention of that party. There is no contention that the petitioners are not qualified to bring the proceeding. See, State ex rel. Sauer v. District Court, 74 Minn. 177, 77 N.W. 28. The question of whether electors may be nominated by petition is not before us.

It appears by the petition that the secretary of state has refused to accept the petitioners' certificate as to nominees for presidential [***5] electors for the reason that another certificate, fair on its face, also purporting to name presidential electors for that party, had previously been filed in his office on June 14, 1948.

The petition seeks an order requiring the secretary of state to reject the certificate previously filed and to receive and file a certificate naming the nominees for electors of the DFL party which the petitioners propose to file. Following the filing of the petition in this court, the persons who filed the first certificate, who are interveners herein, moved this court for an order discharging the petition, and, in the event the petition be not discharged, they filed an answer and asked for the appointment of a referee to take testimony on issues of fact which they contend are tendered thereby.

The facts out of which the present controversy arose are that the 1948 convention of the DFL party was legally called by the state chairman to convene in the armory at Brainerd, Minnesota, on June 12 and 13, 1948. The delegates to that convention [**833] assembled and organized the convention. The answer to the petition admits the legality of the call and that the convention was organized and proceeded [***6] to pass upon contested delegations, but in connection with such contests alleges that those delegates who voted in the convention "arbitrarily, capriciously, oppressively and unlawfully" excluded legally elected delegates who were under contest. As examples of such alleged "arbitrary, capricious, oppressive and unlawful" actions, the answer alleges some eleven examples of conduct, all of which relate in some manner to such contests. The answer then charges that by such actions the theretofore legal convention [*55] ceased to be the legal convention of the party, and early in the afternoon of June 13 became a mere assemblage of citizens without authority to bind the party, whereupon certain delegates withdrew from the convention and met immediately in front of the armory, where the convention was being held, assumed to organize themselves into a convention under the original call, and adjourned to a hall in the city of Minneapolis to reassemble at 10 p.m. of that same day. It was at this reassembly in Minneapolis that the persons whose names appear on the certificate, first filed with the secretary of state, were nominated as electors, and it was by a certificate filed by the [***7] alleged officers of that assumed convention that the certificate of nominations was filed with the secretary of state on June 14, 1948.

It is the contention of the petitioners that the Brainerd convention was the duly called and organized party convention and that it had the sole right to judge the qualifications and credentials of its own members; that its determinations thereof are not subject to judicial review; and therefore that the certificate already filed with the secretary of state is not the certificate of the duly authorized party or of its convention officers. On the other hand, the interveners, who are the officers of the Minneapolis convention, contend that the actions of the Brainerd convention with reference to the seating of contestants was so arbitrary, fraudulent, and unlawful as to justify the withdrawal of the delegates and the organization of a new convention under the original call which would have the authority to nominate electors.

1. The rule with regard to judicial review of the actions of political conventions is that in factional controversies within a political party, where there is involved no controlling statute or clear right based on statute [***8] law, the courts will not assume jurisdiction, but will leave the matter for determination within the party organization.

2. Absent a controlling statute, a political convention is the judge of the election, qualifications, and returns of its own members. Such a convention is not a select body requiring the presence of a majority of all persons entitled to participate in order to constitute [*56] a quorum for the transaction of business. If that convention is regularly called, those who actually assemble constitute a quorum, and a majority of those voting is competent to transact business. The withdrawal of either a majority or minority does not affect the right of those remaining to proceed with the business of the convention, and those withdrawing cannot claim to be the legal party convention.

This court in Phillips v. Gallagher, 73 Minn. 528, 534, 76 N.W. 285, 287, 42 L.R.A. 222, in discussing a contention that the law relative to election contests applied to party convention nominations, said:

"But such rules have only a limited application to a political convention, which has control over its own proceedings and officers, in the absence of any statutory regulations, [***9] and may proceed according to party usages and customs. The questions which such a convention deals with are essentially political, and it would be a menace to the right of the members of a political party to select their own party nominees, and to the respect which should be entertained for judicial tribunals, for the courts to review and reverse the proceedings of a political convention, in the absence of fraud or oppression on its part or of its officers.

"The delegates in a nominating convention meet for the purpose of selecting and agreeing upon candidates for office, to be [**834] supported by the party. The discharge of this duty involves the exercise of judgment and discretion on the part of the members of the convention, and a majority of them have, in the absence of fraud or oppression, the right to control the action of the convention, and to correct or reverse any action taken by it. Such a convention is a deliberative body, and unless it acts arbitrarily, oppressively or fraudulently, its final determination as to candidates, or any other question of which it has jurisdiction, will be followed by the courts. See State [ex rel. Childs] v. Kiichli, 53 Minn. 147, [***10] 154, 54 N.W. 1069, 1070, 19 L.R.A. 779; Manston v. McIntosh, 58 Minn. 525, 528, 60 N.W. 672, 673, 28 L.R.A. 605; In re Fairchild, 151 N.Y. 359, 45 N.E. 943. Any other rule would be intolerable, and permit the courts to [*57] impose upon a party a nominee contrary to the wishes of its members, as finally expressed by their representatives in convention."

The "fraud or oppression" referred to is, in our opinion, only such perversion of the purposes of the convention as may be effected after those purposes have been finally determined. It does not include the action of the convention in seating delegates involved in contests, because such a convention is the judge of the qualifications and right to seats of its own members. These qualifications and rights are political, as distinguished from legal rights, unless based upon specific statute; and courts will not entertain jurisdiction of them. See, Annotations, 20 A.L.R. 1035 and 169 A.L.R. 1282.

The answer in this case sets up only conclusory words alleging fraud and oppression, without supporting facts as to the illegality of the delegates seated. If, upon such an allegation, we were given jurisdiction to inquire as to the [***11] regularity of the elections of delegates to the state convention, we, instead of the state political organization, would be confronted with the political task of organizing the convention. Marcum v. Ballot Commrs. 42 W. Va. 263, 26 S.E. 281, 36 L.R.A. 296. In that case, in discussing the powers of a circuit nominating convention and the limits of judicial review, the court said (42 W. Va. 272, 26 S.E. 284):

"* * * That convention, like the two branches of the state legislature and congress, like all deliberative bodies having power to organize, is the judge of the election, qualification, and returns of its own members. If we go back of the circuit convention, how far shall we go? What shall limit our inquiry? Must we overlook every convention or primary election to say whether its members were old enough or of the politics to entitle them to participate? There must be a limit of reason to our powers. That is the convention whose nominations are in question before us. To hold otherwise would be for this Court to assume power to supervise and review the organization of political conventions -- practically to organize them." (Italics supplied.)

[*58] The case [***12] of State ex rel. Fosser v. Lavik, 9 N.D. 461, 83 N.W. 914, is on all fours with the case at bar, although it involved a county convention instead of a state convention. In that case, as here, two certificates of nomination were presented to the county auditor, and he refused the second one. The court said (9 N.D. 462, 83 N.W. 915):

"* * * It is clear that the one duty of the court in this case is to determine which faction, if either, constituted the de facto Republican convention. It is not our province to correct parliamentary errors, or to scrutinize the parliamentary methods by which an organization of a convention was secured, if only an organization of the Republican county convention was effected. A mass of affidavits has been presented to us, but we accept the statement of facts as found in defendant's brief, adding thereto only matters that are undisputed. The call for the convention was regular in all respects, and fixed the total number of delegates from the county at 19. The caucuses were duly held, and delegates properly elected from all the precincts except one. In that precinct one Dolan was elected, not by ballot, as required by section 497a, Rev. Codes, [***13] but by a viva voce vote of the electors present. [***835] On the day appointed for the convention the county Republican central committee met, in pursuance of usage, to determine what delegates were entitled to participate in the preliminary organization. That committee rejected Dolan's credential, -- whether rightly or not, we must not inquire. The delegates were called to order by the chairman of the central committee, and, on the nomination for temporary chairman, there was a tie vote of 9 to 9. The chairman of the central committee assumed the right to decide the tie, -- whether rightly or not, we need not say, because the election of the temporary chairman was immediately acquiesced in by the entire convention. A temporary secretary was then nominated and elected by the unanimous vote of all the delegates. It is clear at this point that a temporary organization of the convention had been effected. The assembly was no longer an unorganized body of delegates. It was a convention. Whatever business that convention might transact must be transacted through the instrumentality [*59] of the organization thus effected, or of some organization that might [***14] by a vote of the convention as thus organized be substituted for the then existing organization. The convention, acting upon these self-evident propositions, at once proceeded with the appointment of the usual committees for such occasions. There was no contest, except as to the committee on credentials. Upon the motion that the chair appoint such committee, the vote stood 9 to 9; and the chair, after having voted as a delegate, assumed the right, as chairman, to vote again, and decide the vote in favor of the motion. We need not waste a moment in condemning this course. This court is not interested in determining whether or not that convention was conducted according to strict parliamentary rules and usages. Such questions are foreign to the powers of judicial tribunals. They are political, purely. We are interested only in determining whether or not such convention was the Republican county convention, and as to that there can be no doubt, upon conceded facts. The committee on credentials presented a report rejecting the credentials of Mr. Dolan, who had already been rejected by the central committee, and also rejecting the credentials of one McDonough. The motion [***15] to adopt this report was carried by a vote of 9 in the affirmative to 8 in the negative; the chair refusing to count the vote of McDonough in the negative. That convention was the exclusive judge of the qualifications of its own members, and by that vote it conclusively determined that there were 17 qualified delegates elected to that convention, and no more, and that Dolan and McDonough were not delegates legally elected and qualified to sit in said convention. When this was definitely determined, the 8 delegates, who were thus left a minority faction, and all of whom had participated in the preliminary organization and in every move of the convention up to this point, without any motion to adjourn, or any public announcement of any intention to withdraw, quietly left the room, and, calling to them the 2 men who had been rejected by the convention, they proceeded to another room, and assumed to organize themselves into a convention, and nominated a full list of county officers; and the parties who acted as chairman and secretary of such assumed convention [*60] executed a certificate of nomination, fair on its face, and purporting to be the nominations made by the Republican [***16] county convention for the offices therein specified. The certificate was received and filed by the auditor. The 9 delegates remaining in the regular convention, and being a majority of the delegates entitled to seats in that convention, proceeded to nominate county officers; and a certificate of such nomination, fair on its face, and purporting to be the certificate of nominations made by the Republican county convention for said Pierce county, was presented to the auditor, who refused to receive or file the same, for the reason that the certificate of nominations made by the Republican county convention was already on file in his office. True it is that the auditor could properly receive and place upon the official ballot but one list of Republican nominations for county offices, but he was bound to so receive and place upon the ballot the nominations made by the regular Republican county convention. State v. Falley, 9 N.D. 450, 83 N.W. Rep. 860. [***836] This he has refused to do. Let the peremptory writ issue as prayed. All concur." (Italics supplied.)

We regard the reasoning of that case as sound.

In the later case of State ex rel. Granvold v. Porter, 11 N.D. [***17] 309, 319, 91 N.W. 944, 950, involving a similar situation, the court said:

"* * * The convention was not a select body, requiring the presence of a majority of all the persons entitled to participate in order to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The common-law rule as to assemblages of this character is that, where the meeting is regularly called, those who actually assemble constitute a quorum, and a majority of those voting is competent to transact business. Those who do not attend are presumed to assent to the action of the majority of those who do attend and vote. Field v. Field, 9 Wend. 395; Craig v. Presbyterian Church, 88 Pa. 42, 32 Am. Rep. 417; Ex parte Willcocks, 7 Cow. 401, 17 Am. Dec. 525; Everett v. Smith, 22 Minn. 53; Smith v. Proctor, 130 N.Y. 319, 29 N.E. Rep. 312, 14 L.R.A. 403; Lawrence v. Ingersoll, (Tenn.) 6 L.R.A. 308, and note (s.c. [88 Tenn. 52] 12 S.W. Rep. 422, 17 Am. St. Rep. 870); Cass County v. Johnston, 95 U.S. 360, 24 L. Ed. 416. [*61] It follows, therefore, that, by withdrawing, the delegates merely waived their right to participate in the convention, and that their action in so doing did not affect its identity, or deprive [***18] those who were present of the right to proceed with the business of the convention. This we understand to be true in all cases, whether the withdrawing members constitute a majority or a minority. In this case the fact is established, however, that a majority of lawful delegates was present at all times in the Fox convention, and participated in its action. The convention which nominated the relator consisted of six regular delegates, -- the relator, who held a proxy, and Stevens, whose right to participate had been rejected by the regular convention. These facts bring the case fairly under the decision of this court in State [ex rel. Fosser] v. Lavik [9 N.D. 461, 83 N.W. 914], supra, wherein we held that a minority of the delegates to a political convention cannot withdraw therefrom, and join themselves with those whose credentials have been rejected, and successfully claim that they constitute the legal party convention." (Italics supplied.)

In the article on Elections appearing in 18 Am. Jur., §§ 136, 137, the rule governing the powers of political conventions and the judicial review of their actions is stated as follows:

"A convention has the inherent power incident [***19] to all deliberative bodies having the power to organize to judge of the election, qualifications, and returns of its own members, and its action in seating or rejecting delegates is not subject to judicial review. * * * The convention, when assembled and organized, is, as has previously been shown, the depository of all party power, and it cannot be bound or limited in its action in any way by the permanent committee in the call issued for the convention. In the absence of statutory regulations, it has control over its own proceedings and affairs and may proceed according to party usages and customs. The discharge of the duties imposed on the convention involves the exercise of judgment and discretion on the part of its members, and a majority of them have, in the absence of fraud or oppression, the right to control [*62] the action of the convention and to correct or reverse any action taken by it, and its final determination as to candidates or any other question within its jurisdiction will be followed by the courts. * * *

"A convention regularly called and organized is not dissolved by the withdrawal of a minority of the delegates present, but remains, as before, a convention [***20] with full power to nominate the candidates to be voted for. Its nominees, and not those of the withdrawing minority, are entitled to be placed upon the ballot, * * *."

In 29 C.J.S., § 88, of article on Elections, the rule is stated as follows:

"Except to the extent that jurisdiction is conferred by statute or that the subject has been regulated by statute, the courts have no power to interfere with the judgments of the constituted authorities of established political parties in matters involving party government and discipline, [**837] to determine disputes within a political party as to the regularity of the election of its executive officers, or their removal, or to determine contests for the position of party committeemen or convention delegates. As elections belong to the political branch of the government, the courts will not be astute in seeking to find ground for interference, but will seek rather to maintain the integrity and independence of the several departments of the government by leaving questions as to party policy, the regularity of conventions, the nomination of candidates, and the constitution, powers, and proceedings of committees, to be determined [***21] by the tribunals of the party. Accordingly the courts will not assume jurisdiction of cases involving inquiry into the conventions of a political party. Thus the action of a state convention in deciding between two contesting delegations and the regularity of the state or district conventions or other meeting at which they were selected is regarded as conclusive." (Italics supplied.)

M.S.A. 204.02 provides:

"Presidential electors for the several political parties of this state shall hereafter be nominated by delegate conventions called and held [*63] under the supervision of the respective state central committees of the several parties of this state. The names of the persons nominated as presidential electors shall be certified to the secretary of state by the chairman of such convention for the office of presidential elector and shall be placed upon the general election ballot in the manner now provided by law." (Italics supplied.)

The provisions which now appear as M.S.A. 204.02 first appeared as Ex. Sess. L. 1919, c. 27, later appearing as L. 1923, c. 125, § 11. Theretofore the nomination of electors had been subject to the provisions of the direct [***22] primary law. There was also at one time a presidential preference primary, L. 1913, c. 449, later amended by L. 1915, c. 372, but repealed by L. 1917, c. 133. After its repeal and the extension of the primary to all other state officers, n2 the elaborate machinery of the primary law, no doubt, seemed to the legislature wholly unnecessary, as applied to presidential electors, who by party organization, usage, and custom were bound to vote for the candidates nominated by the national convention. Consequently, Ex. Sess. L. 1919, c. 27, was enacted in time to apply to the 1920 presidential election. As we construe c. 27 and its continuance in force as a separate section in all subsequent legislation, as in L. 1923, c. 125, § 11, it was clearly intended to lift the convention to nominate presidential electors out of the other provisions of the primary election law and place it in a separate class under the control of the state central committee. The language of c. 27, now appearing as M.S.A. 204.02, is inconsistent with any other intent. We do not regard M.S.A. 202.11, et seq., as controlling this convention. Certainly, there is no intent evinced in those sections to confer [***23] jurisdiction on this court in controversies of this character. In Johnson v. Schmahl, 119 Minn. 179, 137 N.W. 741, this court held that the primary election law repealed, as inconsistent with its terms, the law providing for nomination of state officers by conventions. We think it is just as clear that as to presidential electors, whose situation is unique and distinct from that of other officers, the legislative [*64] intent was to restore the convention completely to party control. We so construe the section. Nothing in it indicates an intention to vest in the courts jurisdiction to pass upon the committee's decisions or on those of the convention so called, held, and supervised. The customs and usages of the party or its constitution were obviously sufficient protection to its members. No party constitution could confer jurisdiction upon the courts, and the statute authorizing such constitutions does not. M.S.A. 202.10.

-----Footnotes-----

n2. As originally enacted, the primary did not extend to state officers. L. 1899, c. 349.

-----End Footnotes----- [***24]

3-4-5. We conclude that the courts have no jurisdiction of the issues attempted to be raised by the pleadings before us and that consequently there is no issue of fact upon which a reference should be ordered. We further conclude that the electors nominated by the regular convention at Brainerd are entitled to be placed upon the ballot; that those named on the certificate, filed [**838] June 14, 1948, have no such right; that that certificate should be rejected and purged from the files of the secretary of state and that of the petitioners received and filed when the same is in due form. Let a mandate to that effect issue to the secretary of state.

So ordered.

STATE, EX REL HANS FOSSER vs. ANDREW J. LAVIK.

[NO NUMBER IN ORIGINAL]

SUPREME COURT OF NORTH DAKOTA

9 N.D. 461; 83 N.W. 914; 1900 N.D. LEXIS 253

October 26, 1900, Opinion Filed

PRIOR HISTORY: [***1] Application for a writ of mandamus, on the relation of Hans Fossier, against Andrew J. Lavik.

Writ granted.

DISPOSITION: Peremptory writ issued.

CORE TERMS: convention, nomination, delegate, certificate, county convention, credential, auditor, ballot, chairman, faction, election, central committee, temporary, regular, elected, parliamentary, column, purporting, proceeded, effected, chair, political convention, political party, candidate, nominees, refused to receive, alternative writ, nominated, secretary, precinct

HEADNOTES: Elections -- Refusal to File Certificate of Nomination -- Mandamus.

Where a county auditor refuses to receive and file the certificates of nominations for county officers made by a political party entitled to a column upon the official ballot, this refusal is a matter publici juris. It involves the right of the citizen to vote for the nominees of the political party of his faith. It involves the exercise of the elective franchise, and indirectly involves the election of every candidate in that column upon the official ballot. This court has jurisdiction to issue an original writ of mandamus in such a case.

Political Questions -- Parliamentary Rulings.

Judicial tribunals cannot pass upon the correctness of parliamentary rulings or tactics adopted in a political convention. Such questions are purely political. Courts can determine in this behalf only whether or not an assembly is a political convention organized as the law requires.

Minority of Convention Cannot Withdraw and Organize a Legal Party Convention.

A political convention is the exclusive judge of the credentials and qualifications of persons claiming to be delegates thereto, and a minority of the delegates, as thus determined by the convention cannot, by withdrawing from said convention and joining themselves to the persons whose credentials have been rejected by the convention, constitute a legal party convention.

COUNSEL: F. H. McDermont, W. J. Maher, (Cochrane & Corliss of counsel), for relator.

L. N. Torson and P. J. McClory, for respondent.

JUDGES: BARTHOLOMEW, C. J.

OPINIONBY: BARTHOLOMEW

OPINION: [*462] [**914] BARTHOLOMEW, C. J. One Hans Fossier, as relator, made an original application to this court for a writ of mandate to the auditor of Pierce county, commanding said auditor to receive and file a certain certificate of nomination, purporting to be the certificate of nomination for county offices for said Pierce county made by the Republican party of said county, and to print such nominations upon the official ballot. The alternative writ was issued, and upon the return day the defendant, by his counsel, moved to quash such writ on the ground that this court had no original jurisdiction of the case, for the reason that the case was not of such strictly public concern as is required by section 5165, Rev. Codes. It is true, this case involves directly only the nomination and election of county officers, but necessarily and inseparably connected therewith [***2] is the right of the citizen to vote for the regular nominees of his political party. It involves the exercise of the elective franchise, -- the most sacredly guarded franchise granted by the state. Indirectly, it involves the election of all the candidates named in [**915] the Republican column upon the official ballot, whether state, district, or county nominees, for the reason that the number of Republican votes cast in said county will depend to some extent upon who appear in the Republican column as the Republican candidates for the local or county offices. For these reasons, we think the matter is publici juris. As was said in effect in State v. Nelson Co., 1 N.D. 88 at 101, 45 N.W. 33, the court will judge for itself whether the wrong complained of is of the nature that requires the interposition of this court. The motion to quash is denied.

Defendant also answered to the alternative writ. From the writ and answer it is clear that when the Republican county convention of Pierce county convened in said county on September 29, 1900, it was composed of two factions, bitterly opposed, and the ultimate result was a division; each faction claiming to be the [***3] Republican county convention, and each nominating a full list of county officers. The certificate of nomination as made by one faction was duly presented to, and received and filed by, the auditor. Subsequently the certificate of nominations as made by the other faction was presented to the auditor, but he refused to receive the same upon the ground that the certificate of nominations made by the Republican county convention was already on file. It is clear that the one duty of the court in this case is to determine which faction, if either, constituted the de facto Republican convention. It is not our province to correct parliamentary errors, or to scrutinize the parliamentary methods by which an organization of a convention was secured, if only an organization of the Republican county convention was effected. A mass of affidavits has been presented to us, but we accept the statement of facts as found in defendant's brief, adding thereto [*463] only matters that are undisputed. The call for the convention was regular in all respects, and fixed the total number of delegates from the county at 19. The caucuses were duly held, and delegates properly elected from all the precincts [***4] except one. In that precinct one Dolan was elected, not by ballot, as required by section 497a, Rev. Codes, but by a viva voce vote of the electors present. On the day appointed for the convention the county Republican central committee met, in pursuance of usage, to determine what delegates were entitled to participate in the preliminary organization. That committee rejected Dolan's credential, -- whether rightly or not, we must not inquire. The delegates were called to order by the chairman of the central committee, and, on the nomination for temporary chairman, there was a tie vote of 9 to 9. The chairman of the central committee assumed the right to decide the tie, -- whether rightly or not, we need not say, because the election of the temporary chairman was immediately acquiesced in by the entire convention. A temporary secretary was then nominated and elected by the unanimous vote of all the delegates. It is clear at this point that a temporary organization of the convention had been effected. The assembly was no longer an unorganized body of delegates. It was a convention. Whatever business that convention might transact must be transacted through the instrumentality of [***5] the organization thus effected, or of some organization that might by a vote of the convention as thus organized be substituted for the then existing organization. The convention, acting upon these self-evident propositions, at once proceeded with the appointment of the usual committees for such occasions. There was no contest, except as to the committee on credentials. Upon the motion that the chair appoint such committee, the vote stood 9 to 9; and the chair, after having voted as a delegate, assumed the right, as chairman, to vote again, and decide the vote in favor of the motion. We need not waste a moment in condemning this course. This court is not interested in determining whether or not that convention was conducted according to strict parliamentary rules and usages. Such questions are foreign to the powers of judicial tribunals. They are political, purely. We are interested only in determining whether or not such convention was the Republican county convention, and as to that there can be no doubt, upon conceded facts. The committee on credentials presented a report rejecting the credentials of Mr. Dolan, who had already been rejected by the central committee, and also rejecting [***6] the credentials of one McDonough. The motion to adopt this report was carried by a vote of 9 in the affirmative to 8 in the negative; the chair refusing to count the vote of McDonough in the negative. That convention was the exclusive judge of the qualifications of its own members, and by that vote it conclusively determined that there were 17 qualified delegates elected to that convention, and no more, and that Dolan and McDonough were not delegates legally elected and qualified to sit in said convention. When this was definitely determined, the 8 delegates, who were thus left a minority [***464] faction, and all of whom had participated in the preliminary organization and in every move of the convention up to this point, without any motion to adjourn, or any public announcement of any intention to withdraw, quietly left the room, and, calling to them the 2 men who had been rejected by the convention, they proceeded to another room, and assumed to organize themselves into a convention, and nominated a full list of county officers; and the parties who acted as chairman and secretary of such assumed convention executed a certificate of nomination, fair on its face, and purporting [***7] to be the nominations made by the Republican county convention for the offices therein specified. The certificate was received and filed by the auditor. The 9 delegates remaining in the regular convention, [***916] and being a majority of the delegates entitled to seats in that convention, proceeded to nominate county officers; and a certificate of such nomination, fair on its face, and purporting to be the certificate of nominations made by the Republican county convention for said Pierce county, was presented to the auditor, who refused to receive or file the same, for the reason that the certificate of nominations made by the Republican county convention was already on file in his office. True it is that the auditor could properly receive and place upon the official ballot but one list of Republican nominations for county offices, but he was bound to so receive and place upon the ballot the nominations made by the regular Republican county convention. State v. Falley, 9 N.D. 450, 83 N.W. 860. This he has refused to do. Let the peremptory writ issue as prayed. All concur.
